

Not all babies with a missing short arm of chromosome 5 will develop cri du chat syndrome . Some will have only very mild abnormal features or have no abnormal features at all . There are a number of features of cri du chat syndrome , which include : The baby has a cry which is high - pitched and has been described as sounding like a cat .